SYSTEM FENCING EDUCATION SEMINARS TEAM UP WITH THE DODGE RODEO TOUR BULL RIDING

What do bucking bulls, barn design and horse fencing have in common?

Rockwood, ON - April 15, 2009

They're all part of the Spring Open House, Sale, Equine Information Seminars and Dodge Rodeo Bull Buck Out at System Fencing on May 1 & 2, 2009.

Join your friends for two exciting days as System Fencing celebrates over 22 years in business, now at their new location at the corner of 5th Line Nassagaweya and Highway 7 between Rockwood and Acton.

Friday, May 1 is Day One of the Spring celebration with four Equine information seminars starting at 10 a.m. Gayle Ecker, Senior Manager of Equine Guelph will present the Horse Health Check: a systematic method of examining your horse. Gary Van Bolderen of Dutch Masters Construction will set you up with farmstead planning. This would include roads, fencing, services, parking, manure, trees, ponds, sand rings, permits, anything to do outside the barn. In the afternoon, Susan Raymond of Equine Guelph will talk about stable design and management for a healthy horse followed by Equine Canada and Ontario Equestrian Federation Past President, Al Patterson re-living the magic of the Canadian Olympic Team victories.

On Saturday, your Equine education will continue with fencing demonstrations at 9 a.m., followed by Gayle Ecker presenting You, Me and Horses - a comparison of basic anatomy between the young horse and the human. Herman Post of Post Construction will pass along his advice on barn interior design: Where do you put your tack room? What's the best place for the feed room or wash rack? Come and find out.

You'll want to stay for an exciting afternoon as the Dodge Rodeo brings their most dangerous sport to a specially built sand ring behind the System Fence Warehouse. Professional bull riders will compete for a $1,000 Jackpot as they buck out a string of bulls with crowd favourite Shorty Leggs the Rodeo Clown keeping you laughing.

The System Fencing Super Sale will run all weekend and Equine Guelph's popular interactive EquiMania! will be there too. Admission is free and lunch will be available on the grounds with all proceeds going to Cancer research. See you there!
